We all know that going apartment hunting can be a huge pain in the rear but now Rent.com is trying to help you out on the go with a slate of new apps for the iPhone, Android and BlackBerry.

The Rent.com apps will sync with your account to the online service and you'll be able to get listings, phone numbers and more information on the go. You'll even be able to attach photos and descriptions to places you visit in order to help jog your memory.

These apps seem like a solid way to keep track of what apartments or properties you're looking at and it's even offering a $100 gift card when you fill out a lease form. I'm still more of a Craigslist man when it comes to finding new places to live, but I'll be happy to give this free app a run when I'm looking for a place next.
